Common Web page header and links included via SSI allows quick change.

Data for a chapter stored in just ONE FILE (grouped by State or Country); Web pages obtain data via an SSI call.

Separate SSI call provides update info.

Chapter List Administrator info also included via SSI allows quick change.

Common Web page footer info also included via SSI allows quick change.

XHTML format validation ensures no browser errors.

ChapList_DC.shtml file size only 2 KB on server, versus 13 KB when loaded.

Very simple coding will port easily into PHP for when Chapter Database is moved from Excel into NODAC. Template files can be used AS-IS!

Building a template file just requires replacing data in an existing Web page with field names in curly-brackets.

JavaScript (JS) used to build email address.

If JS-disabled, mangled email appears instead.

Can be removed if we deem this a security risk, but then NO email address would be displayed if JS is disabled; effects 5-10% of browser users.

This method is not spambot proof, but better than nothing.

Email address split into parts before & after the “@” character, then reversed in JS function.

HTML “&#64;” with extra zeros instead of “@”. Even MS Outlook fooled by space in address.

target="_blank" attribute used to pop up linked pages in a new window.
